Tanya Gouveia has two master's degrees in Crime & Justice Studies and in Public Administration from Suffolk University. She also holds two licenses to practice as a drug and alcohol counselor in the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. She is also an adjunct professor at Bristol Community College teaching in the substance abuse certificate program. Her work experience spreads throughout many settings and populations from corrections, residential treatment to outpatient services. With the ever-growing evolution of drug use and treatment, Tanya is committed to staying up to date with the latest trends and improved treatment modalities. As a result, she engages in extensive literature reviews for best practices and trains professionals in the field on the research she has reviewed. These trainings have been offered to several professional associations throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island as well as educational institutions and state agencies.
